Sisters and brothers of India, my scientist friends, for the last few hours the entire nation was awake. We were awake in solidarity with our scientists, who had embarked on one of the most ambitious mission of our space program.

We came very close but we will need to cover more ground in the times to come. Every Indian is filled with a spirit of pride as well as confidence. We are proud of our space program and scientists, their hard work and determination has ensured a better life not only for our citizens but also for other nations.

It is the outcome of their innovative zeal that several people have got access to a better quality of life including better Health Care and education facilities. India is certain that there will be many more opportunities to be proud and rejoice, thanks.

At the same time, we are full of confidence that when it comes to our space program the best is yet to come.

There are new frontiers to discover and new places to go. We will rise to the occasion and scale newer heights of success.

To our scientists I want to say India is with you. You are exceptional professionals who have made an incredible contribution to national progress.

you have given your best always and will give us several more opportunities to smile true to your nature you ventured into a place where no one had ever done before a bloke

आप खनपर, थर पर

You came as close as you could. Stay steady and look ahead. I also salute the families of our space scientists. Their silent but valuable support remains a major asset.

Sisters and brothers of India resilience and tenacity are Central to India's ethos. In our glorious history of thousands of years we have faced moments that may have slowed us but they have never crushed our spirit. We have bounced back again and gone to do spectacular things. This is the reason our civilization stands tall.

My dear friends as important as the final result, is the journey and the effort. I can proudly say that the effort was worth it and so was the journey. Our team worked hard, traveled far and those teachings will always remain with us. We will look back at the journey and effort with great satisfaction. The learnings from today will make us stronger and better. There will be a new dawn and a brighter tomorrow very soon .
